

UNITED: DOES BUST-UP SHOW THE PRESSURE OF

The Journal

www.thejournal.ie, home of The Journal online

Saturday, March 4, 2016

€1.50 (subscription price €1.00 - see page 2)

'WE'LL SIMPLY NOT KNOW WHY HE DID IT'

SINCE AND SADRICK IN ADAM JOHNSON'S HOME TO

Don't drink too much or you'll feel woof in the morning...

▶ More from our series of the City of Dublin, which offers drinks and dog stories for dogs. P.14, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21

The dig that could remake history

Crowdfunding drive raises money for bid to locate monastery

Mike Kelly
Reporter

A WASTED dig is to be given the go-ahead to find the monastery where the foundation stones were laid - and it's all thanks to history buffs.

A crowdfunding campaign has raised enough money for the dig following an appeal by 'archaeology enthusiast' Dr David Price of Trinity College, who has carried out numerous archaeological excavations.

The Anglo-Norman monastery, founded in 1120 AD by monk

John, dates to a great reputation in the history of the city.

The dig will be a €1 million project and will be the first of its kind in the city.

The dig will be a €1 million project and will be the first of its kind in the city.

LOOKING FOR A RANGE COOKER?

To find out more, get in touch with us today. Visit our website at www.rangecookers.ie